Lord Dallyrot in Slangland

On an automobile tour, old chap, we approached an extremely low-hanging bridge which was suspended across the road we traveled. I am quite certain that we all would have been struck on the head had not our chauffeur given us sudden warning in this fashion:

"Duck your beans! Dip your crocks! Get them high-brow noodles down to half-mast, 'cause if you don't you're all going to get a wallop on the winking works. Tuck in your conks if you don't want to get tossed out of this go-cart and laid to rest on your wishbone. Don't you get me, folks? Cram down them rubbernecks of yours. Bury your belfries!"

My word!

Federal Gen. Mercado says he will evacuate Ojinaga and take Chihuahua. Then the rebels will evacuate Chihuahua and take Ojinaga. War in Mexico is one blamed swap after another.
